Anaphylaxis Management

Face-to-face practical course for healthcare professionals

Fee: €95 per person

Duration: 2 hours (normally 2:30 pm–4:30 pm on scheduled dates)

Delivery: Face-to-face, instructor-led practical training

Venue: ALSAA Sports Complex, near Dublin Airport

Parking: Free parking available

Course overview

Develop the knowledge and practical skills to recognise, assess and manage anaphylaxis promptly and safely. This instructor-led course combines clinical teaching, hands-on training with adrenaline delivery devices, case-based scenarios and feedback.

Who should attend?

Healthcare professionals including nurses, doctors, pharmacists, dentists, midwives, paramedics and other clinical staff who may encounter anaphylaxis in their practice.

Topics covered

- Recognising anaphylaxis and distinguishing it from less severe allergic reactions
- Structured assessment and recognition of life-threatening features
- Calling for emergency help and immediate patient management
- Adrenaline indications, dose, route and safe administration
- Practical familiarisation with auto-injector trainers and other relevant delivery methods
- Monitoring, reassessment, escalation and clinical communication
- Clinical scenarios, treatment decisions and instructor feedback

Course format

Interactive teaching, discussions, hands-on skill stations, equipment familiarisation and practical clinical scenarios. Unlike the live webinar, this course includes in-person practice with training equipment.

Certificate

Participants receive an Immediate Care Training Certificate of Attendance for the face-to-face Anaphylaxis Management course.

Combine with BLS

On selected dates, you can complete the American Heart Association BLS Provider classroom course and Anaphylaxis Management on the same day for €195 per person. BLS runs from 10:30 am to approximately 2:30 pm, followed by Anaphylaxis Management until approximately 4:30 pm.
